Foreword

Safeguarding certification by ACSL is an independent recognition that a religious entity and its ministries meet the requirements of the National Catholic Safeguarding Standards. Certification achievement is measured against the National Catholic Safeguarding Standards set by the Australian Catholic Bishops Conference and Catholic Religious Australia as the minimum benchmark for providing a safe Church for everyone. Compliance with the Standards is demonstrated through an independent assessment.

NCSS Certification:

- Provides independent recognition that the religious entity is committed to safeguarding.
- Fosters a culture of quality and continuous improvement.
- Reduces and mitigates safeguarding risks.
- Provides the community with confidence that the Church is taking action to address past abuse.
- Fosters a systematic approach to safeguarding quality and performance.
- Increases capability and safeguarding capacity.
- Complies with regulatory requirements, and, where relevant, established canonical requirements.

The following report is based on an independent assessment of the Diocese of Rockhampton performance against the National Catholic Safeguarding Standards. The report includes compliance level ratings for each standard, criteria, and indicator, and includes explanatory notes for key findings.

The information contained in this report is based on evidence provided by the Diocese of Rockhampton and its representatives at the time of the assessment and where applicable any further subsequent information the Diocese has supplied through the reporting process.

Certification issued by ACSL and/or its accredited auditors relates to safeguarding practices. It does not guarantee the safety, quality or acceptability of a participating organisation, its services or programs, or that legislative and funding requirements are being, or will be, met for other purposes.

TO THE BISHOP OF DIOCESE OF ROCKHAMPTON

ACSL has undertaken a safeguarding review audit of a sample of parish and Diocesan leadership and Professional Standards office activities of Diocese of Rockhampton. This audit comprises an analysis of their NCSS Self-Assessment, interviews with Diocesan personnel and follow up conversations. ACSL considers that the audit evidence obtained from Diocese of Rockhampton is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for this opinion.

In ACSL's opinion, the National Catholic Safeguarding Standards Audit Report for the Diocese of Rockhampton offers a true and fair view of the Diocese's safeguarding policies, procedures and processes as a 14 November 2025 and of its performance against the NCSS for the period ended on that date.

ACSL is independent of the Diocese of Rockhampton in accordance with the ethical requirements of the Accounting Professional and Ethical Standards Board's APES 110 Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (the Code) that are relevant to this audit. The professional obligations and ethical requirements imposed on members are based on the five fundamental principles of integrity, objectivity, professional competence and due care, confidentiality and professional behaviour in the Code.

1. Executive Summary

1.1 Context

Australian Catholic Safeguarding Ltd (ACSL) was established in 2020, to bring together the work of Catholic Professional Standards Ltd, the Australian Catholic Centre for Professional Standards and the Australian Catholic Ministry Register. ACSL is a company limited by guarantee, whose membership is composed of the Australian Catholic Bishops Conference, Catholic Religious Australia, and the Association of Ministerial Public Juridic Persons.

ACSL is committed to fostering a nationally consistent culture of safety and care throughout the Catholic Church in Australia. This includes providing a range of services to support the implementation of the National Catholic Safeguarding Standards (NCSS), a framework for the protection and care of children and adults at risk. ACSL maintains the NCSS, undertakes audits and reviews of Church entities, and publishes reports which demonstrate a Church entity's commitment to the NCSS.

ACSL's core values are leadership, integrity and compassion. These values guide the way we work and inform cultural change within the Catholic Church and the wider community. We take our duty to care for and protect all children and adults at risk seriously and have zero tolerance for abuse of any kind.

The Australian Human Rights Commission released the National Principles for Child Safe Organisations (the National Principles). The National Principles are derived from the Child Safe Standards recommended by the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse (the Royal Commission) which relate specifically to child safety. The Office of the Children's Guardian considers that organisations in NSW that are implementing the National Principles will be simultaneously implementing the Child Safe Standards.

The NCSS give effect to the National Principles and are the way that the Catholic Church is responding to the recommendation of the Royal Commission that religious organisations adopt and implement the Child Safe Standards. The NCSS are designed to contextualise the National Principles and Child Safe Standards to the Catholic Church in Australia. For more information about the NCSS please see: National Catholic Safeguarding Standards - Australian Catholic Safeguarding Ltd \(acsltd.org.au\).

This audit report includes the results of the assessment against the NCSS for the Diocese of Rockhampton.

1.2 Background

The Catholic Diocese of Rockhampton was established on 29 December 1881. It covers 414,385 square kilometres and has 81 mass centres throughout the 29 parishes of the Diocese, extending from the Mackay region in the north to the Bundaberg region in the south, and west to the Northern Territory border. Michael McCarthy is the current Bishop of Rockhampton. He was ordained as the tenth bishop of the Diocese on 29th May 2014.

Under the management of the Diocesan Catholic Education Office, the Diocese operates 31 primary schools, 9 secondary colleges, 9 kindergartens and 19 outside school-hours care services with 3,400 staff members and nearly 16,000 students.

CatholicCare Central Queensland is the community services arm of the Diocese. Its services include care for the elderly and those living with disability, a range of counselling and dispute resolution services, family & community support and education. The Board of CatholicCare Central Queensland has three sub-committees, one of which is focused on Risk and Compliance. This committee meets 11 times a year. The critical internal audits, risk matrixes and incident reporting are tabled here and reported to the Board with updates provided on the progress of these issues. In addition, the Board Chairperson speaks with the Chief Executive Officer at least weekly, and the Board Chairperson typically meets with the Bishop monthly.

The audit included a visit to selected schools and an interview with the Chief Executive Officer and Board Chairperson of CatholicCare Central Queensland. However, ACSL did not audit the safeguarding policies, process and complete safeguarding activities of Catholic Education and CatholicCare Central Queensland.

1.3 Audit classification

The Diocese of Rockhampton has been assessed by ACSL as a Church entity needing to undertake the full NCSS audit. It first undertook an audit in 2020 and have met all the recommendations made at that time. There are 10 NCSS Standards, 48 NCSS Criteria and 104 NCSS Indicators that apply to full audit entities. For further details of the risk-based audit framework, refer to the ACSL website.

Our assessment of the Diocese of Rockhampton maturity with the NCSS is detailed in Section 2 of this report. Our recommendations for improvement, including the Diocese of Rockhampton management responses, are included in Section 3 of this report.

The full audit report is also publicly available on the Publications and Reports page of the ACSL website.

1.4 Audit approach

The purpose of the NCSS is to build a culture of shared responsibility for safeguarding and to ensure that policies, practices, and codes of behaviour work together to prevent, detect, and respond appropriately to potential or actual incidents of child abuse.

The National Catholic Safeguarding Standards are interrelated and interdependent. They work together to ensure every entity, ministry, and organisation across the Catholic Church in Australia places the safety of children and adults at risk at the core of how they plan, think and act. The 10 Standards are grouped into four capability areas according to common safeguarding principles. The four capability groupings and how they work together holistically are represented below:

The audit processes undertaken are intended to provide reasonable assurance that safeguarding controls have been designed appropriately and are operating effectively. Therefore, this report provides a point-in-time assessment of the safeguarding practices implemented by the Diocese of Rockhampton and the extent to which they meet the requirements of the NCSS.

ASCL audit processes integrate The International Standards for the Professional Practice of Internal Auditing (IIA Standards) which are developed by the Global IIA and followed by all IIA members in Australia. These Standards include principles and requirements for undertaking professional and internal auditing and for evaluating internal audit performance.

ACSL utilises an efficient risk assessment mechanism that permits its auditors to focus on risks that are proportionate to the purpose, size, complexity, and structure of a Church Authority. This approach to planning audits ensures optimum use of the Church Authority's limited resources, has maximum impact on the activities, ministries, and parishes, and ensures constant stakeholder engagement. It is also congruent with the IIA Standards.

ACSL assesses the risk management safeguarding practices of a Church Authority through a multilayered system keeping in mind IIA Standard 2010.A1 which states: "The internal audit (here meaning the Church Authority) activity's plan of engagements must be based on a documented risk assessment, undertaken at least annually. The input of senior management and the board must be considered in this process." ACSL can therefore provide objective assurance that the Church Authority is complying with the risk management components of the National Catholic Safeguarding Standards (NCSS).

1.5 In scope assessment

In this audit, the Diocese of Rockhampton was assessed against Edition 2 of the NCSS, covering both children and adults at risk. In October 2025, ACSL completed a desktop review of the Diocese of Rockhampton NCSS Self-Assessment, which the Diocese of Rockhampton completed to present evidence of their congruency with the NCSS. Fieldwork was conducted from Monday November 10 until Friday November 14, 2025. Six parishes were chosen by the Diocesan in consultation with ACSL. The Auditor visited four schools as part of the audit fieldwork. The Auditor also interviewed senior personnel and leadership teams in the Diocese including CatholicCare, Catholic Education Rockhampton. This report was completed in November 2025.

The audit scope included:

- Audit activities at the Diocesan administrative centre.
- Interviews, observations, and enquiry with the Diocesan leadership, including their key personnel in Safeguarding.
- A review of key Diocesan safeguarding documents, policies, and procedures.
- Assessment of the design and testing of the operation of safeguarding controls implemented by the Diocese.
- Discussions with leaders from:
 - CatholicCare Central Queensland;
 - Catholic Education
 - Members of the Diocesan Safeguarding Committee.
- Site visits to:
 - Parishes: Capricorn Coast; Cathedral Parish, Star of the Sea (Gladstone), and
 - Schools – St Benedicts (Yeppoon); The Cathedral College (Rockhampton), St Joseph's Primary School (Wandal) and Our Lady Star of the Sea (Gladstone).
- Online parish interviews with Barcaldine parish; Clermont parish and North Mackay and Farleigh.

- Interviews with over 30 personnel – inclusive of clergy, people in paid roles, safeguarding volunteers and parishioners.

Whilst discussions were held with the relevant leaders and safeguarding personnel, the audit scope excluded the Catholic agencies of the Diocese.

2. Overarching findings

This Safeguarding Audit of the Diocese of Rockhampton indicates that the Diocese is successfully implementing and embedding a culture of safeguarding throughout its organisation and is compliant with local and National legislation and regulation relating to safeguarding children and adults at risk.

Our assessment indicates that the Diocese of Rockhampton has fully implemented or has substantially progressed in the implementation of 93 (95%) of the relevant indicators to their operations. Assessment for each maturity scale is as follows:

- 81 indicators are developed and embedded
- 12 indicators are substantially progressed.
- 5 indicators are in the initial stages of implementation.

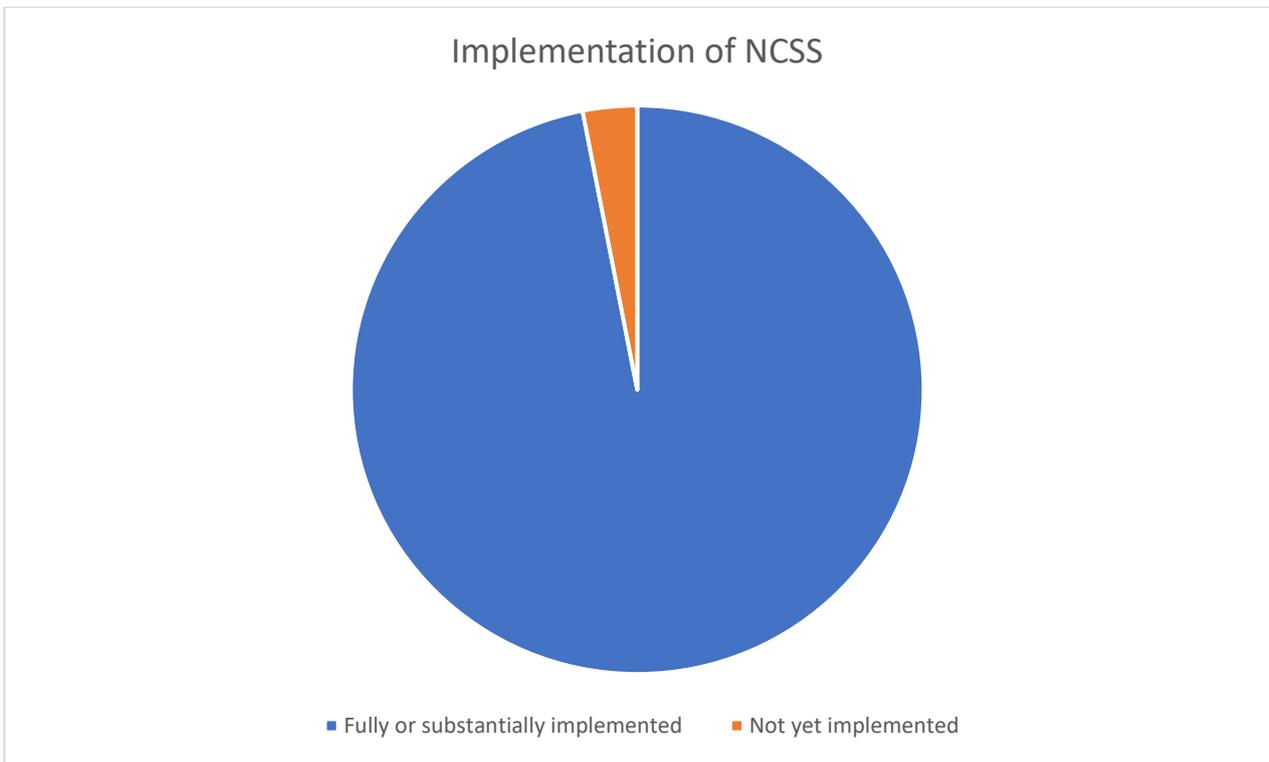

Of the 104 NCSS indicators applicable to full audited Church Authorities, 5 of these are not relevant to the Diocese of Rockhampton operations.

ACSL assessment of the implementation of NCSS indicators by a Church Authority has been determined using a four-point maturity scale¹.

Note on scoring the four-point maturity scale:

- If an indicator is assessed as ‘developed and embedded’ or ‘developed’, it means the implementation is fully or substantially progressed — so the indicator will be counted as implemented.
- If an indicator is assessed as ‘developing’ or ‘yet to develop’, it means the implementation is not substantially progressed, so the indicator will be counted as not implemented.

The key findings from the audit are summarised by NCSS capability areas below.

Capability Area: Leadership, monitoring and improvement (Standards 1 and 9)

There is strong leadership across the Diocese in promoting a safeguarding culture. This has been actively promoted by the Bishop, the Vicar General, the Professional Standards Office and key Ministry Leaders within the Diocese.

The focus in Standards 1 and 9 is on how the Diocesan leadership influences and implements a positive safeguarding culture across its ministries. Diocesan key personnel are expected to display strong leadership within their ministry activities, including through an accountable and transparent governance structure. The audit assessed safeguarding policies, procedures and processes in different settings to understand how a zero-tolerance approach to abuse is implemented and how all people (children and adults) are provided a safe environment, free from abuse and discrimination.

There is an overt commitment by the Diocesan leadership to safeguarding and zero tolerance to abuse. This is evidenced through signage, website and parish bulletin and ministry messages throughout the Diocese. The Diocesan Code of Conduct had been fully adopted by parishes and ministries. This Code and the Safeguarding Commitment is on display in all sites visited.

Parish Safeguarding personnel also reported strong support from the Professional Standards Office to help meet requirements with practical resources, procedures and policies. The Office has adopted a strengths-based approach including governance and risk management processes, the appointment of Diocesan Professional personnel, developing dedicated safeguarding resources, the parish and ministry safeguarding audit program and a minimum of annual parish safeguarding visits in place to provide safeguarding oversight by the Professional Standards Office.

New parish risk assessment documentation has been recently rolled out, and we encourage this to continue with minor modifications to forms and continued training based on feedback from the parishes. The Professional Standards team also has plans to collect and review the completed parish risk assessments and use these to create an overarching safeguarding risk management plan and register for the Diocese.

Throughout the Diocese, there is recognition that safeguarding is a journey and a positive culture of continuous improvement with many looking for ideas and recommendations, including minor modifications, throughout the audit.

Capability Area: Engaging with children, adults, families and communities (Standards 2, 3 and 4)

The Diocese of Rockhampton aims to ensure families, carers and communities are actively engaged with its safeguarding approach. Fieldwork indicates that all parishes and school ministries actively remind parents, carers and/or guardians that safeguarding is a shared responsibility.

This engagement takes a range of forms including surveys, meetings and structured meetings.

The documentation provided by the Diocese of Rockhampton for their desktop assessment recognises that every person has the right to be protected from harm, to be listened to, to be taken seriously, and to have a say in matters that affect them. Posters providing information about adults at risk are on display in some parishes, and it is recommended that additional resources are created to address needs.

Information about external abuse prevention programs could be further displayed in some parishes.

Parishes are commended for their acknowledgement and celebration of culturally diverse groups, including celebration of patron saints, provision of audiovisual supports and inclusive spaces for people with small children.

Capability Area: Right people, right role, right knowledge (Standards 5 and 7)

Personnel who are engaged in ministry are critical to the success of implementing safeguarding. In meeting this capability area, the Diocese strives to recruit appropriately skilled people to the right role to implement their ministry.

The audit assessment of Standard 5 revealed that Diocesan employment practices are underpinned by a strong safeguarding culture. Overall, there is consistency between current employment relations and best practice Human Resource processes. The audit findings also show an emphasis on safe recruitment, professional development, ongoing support of workers, volunteers and clergy which enhances risk mitigation. All clergy participate in professional supervision of clergy. ACSL commends the Diocese for ensuring key Leaders participate in the NCSS Leaders training. There is room for improvement in the annual reviews of volunteers to include focus on their safeguarding skills.

The current safeguarding training program addresses the nature and indicators of abuse, and action to be taken. The current training has been rolled out as in person training across all parishes and is widely applauded. The training has been delivered by Professional Standards staff which has contributed to the positive relationship between parishes and the office leading to stronger safeguarding culture. There are plans to increase the breadth of training to ensure it covers topics within the NCSS indicators with roll-out occurring next year. In 2025, the Diocese provided training in cultural safeguarding and how to provide safe environments for people from CALD backgrounds. The Diocese will review this training to establish how embedded it is across the Diocese in 2026.

Capability Area: Systems, Policies and Procedures (Standards 6, 8 and 10)

ACSL does not investigate any individual complaint during the audit process, the focus is on the system for managing complaints. The Diocesan processes for raising concerns and complaints are responsive, understood and accessible in parishes. Parish safeguarding officers promote these processes to children, adults, families, carers, communities and personnel. Processes are formally documented in the Diocese policies and procedures, and they are made publicly available. All personnel commend Professional Standards office on their responsiveness when seeking support and clarity.

For Standard 8, the audit focused on strategies implemented to minimise the opportunity for abuse to occur in both physical and online environments. Within parishes, risk management strategies have been adopted to minimise the risk of harm. However, during site visits it was noted that there are critical physical environment areas of importance for the Diocese to consider in managing shared presbytery/office spaces.

In churches where the design of confessionals is not conducive to best safeguarding practice, where these cannot be modified (e.g. separate entries, line of sight, glass doors), it is recommended that parishes ensure additional risk control measures are in place, particularly for children and adults at risk.

The Diocese has invested in information technology and access within the online environment is monitored, and all personnel must use Diocese domain name address to access systems and when representing the Diocese. The Diocese will conduct an IT review of the standalone desktops in 2026 and develop a strategy to ensure adequate filter protections are installed on all machines.

There is a strong understanding of how to manage the risks associated with third parties or contractors and the use of facilities by others. The Diocese provides a template agreement which has been adopted throughout the parishes. During the site visits, ACSL made minor recommendations to improve this process.

Standard 10 assesses how the Diocese of Rockhampton's safeguarding policies and procedures are well documented, managed and implemented.

It was noted that, in the Diocese, the positive and encouraging relationships between Professional Standards office, the Safeguarding Committee, Catholic Education and CatholicCare Central Queensland and the parishes are professional and constructive to building a strong safeguarding culture. Through personal meetings of personnel and parishes, with encouragement and listening to parishes, safeguarding is promoted, and the policies and procedures are understood at a parish level and feedback provided. This feedback becomes part of the cycle for continuous improvement with regular reviews and modifications. The continual refrain that safeguarding is a journey throughout the Diocese offices and parishes was evidenced at every site visit.
